INFORMATIVE DIGEST

California community colleges have a long-standing policy of full and open access, to ensure that higher education is available and affordable for everyone. While existing infrastructure successfully delivers comparatively low tuition rates, generous tuition waivers, and some financial aid, these measures are outmatched by ever-increasing non-tuition expenses. In particular, the burden associated with accessing instructional materials required for course and program participation—textbooks, supplemental materials, and supplies—weighs heavily on students, particularly on the most marginalized, exacerbating inequity in their access to and success in higher education.

In response to the Board of Governors' July 2023 Resolution on Instructional Material Affordability, this regulatory action aims to prioritize “the alleviation of student financial, administrative and psychological burdens related to acquiring required instructional materials” before students begin a term and to institutionalize student-centered best practices across the system.

ESTIMATED COST OR SAVINGS OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The estimated cost or savings attributable to the proposed regulatory action are anticipated to be as follows:

Mandate on local agencies or community college districts: None.

Cost or savings to state agencies: None.

Costs to local agencies or community college districts for which reimbursement would be required pursuant to part 7 (commencing with section 17500) of division 4 title 2 of the Government Code: None.

Other non-discretionary cost or savings imposed on community college districts: None.

Cost or savings in federal funding to state agencies: None.
